Disaster Response

Upbring.org

The floodwaters swamping South Louisiana are being called the largest US natural disaster since Hurricane Sandy in 2012, and the number of families needing our help rises each day. While it's impossible to assess the full scope of destruction at this stage of the crisis, we know the process of rebuilding lives will certainly linger long after the land is dry. And we also know that there are tens of thousands of families in need.

Upbring Disaster Response is on the scene collaborating with a network of community partners to help families by offering:

- Spiritual/Emotional Care—Counseling and spiritual care services to individuals seeking prayerful comfort and emotional support, over the short- and long-term.

- Long-Term Response and Recovery Assistance—A coordinated response to help low-income families without insurance who lost their homes and possessions.

Please pray for the thousands of families who are rebuilding their lives, for those suffering repeat trauma, as well as the police, firefighters, first responders and all heroes who engage in the rescue and recovery efforts.
